City to score sanitary interest

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
An enabling ordinance that would clear the way for a negotiated bond sale to pay approximately $250,000 owed by the city for construction work on its new secondary sewage treatment plant was passed by the Granite City Council
Monday night.

The ordinance was adopted under home rule status to permit the adoption in the council's next meeting of another ordinance providing for the bond sale without referendum.

The plan will permit the city to save a substantial sum of interest and to prevent a possible shutdown of the treatment plant construction work, according to Mayor Paul Schuler.

Construction of the secondary treatment plant has been under way since mid-October, but the city now has exhausted all available funds to meet construction costs by the G.L.
Tarlton Co., St. Louis contracting firm which is building the plant.

The Tarlton firm is demanding payment of about approximately $250,000, the mayor said, and has notified several city officials that the job will be shut down unless the bills are met.

The contracting firm had agreed to extend the payment period at a cost of 10 per cent to the city on all bills not promptly paid, but the city rejected the offer.

Under plans for the negotiated bond sale, the city needs to obtain the money from the First Granite City National Bank, pay off the Tarlton obligation, and then retire these short-term bonds with proceeds from the $4.1 million treatment plant bond sale which was awarded to a Chicago bonding firm a week ago.

The interest necessary for the two-year bond sale to the bank will be far less than payment of 10 per cent interest on money owed the Tarlton firm, and advances costly than the loss that would be incurred by shutting down the construction job, the mayor said.

The council Monday night also gave final passage to an ordinance awarding the $4.1 million bond sale to Wood & Associates, a Chicago bonding group which was low bidder under an interest rate of 5.752 per cent.

Mayor Schuler said that tentative plans call for signing the bonds in Chicago on Dec. 13.

Delay on sanitary sewers

Chouteau Township Supervisor
Walter Sparks, a candidate for the Madison County Board from the district represented by Albert E. Doerr, said today that state law that the latter are misleading.

He referred to a Nov. 8 article headed, "Doerr sees progress on sanitary sewers." Actual sewer service may still be a long time away, Sparks said.

Sparks as township supervisor is a member of the Sewer Planning Committee currently planning a four-township (Madison County) sanitary sewer program. He also serves as chairman of that committee.

Supervisor Sparks commented, "A news release furnished by Mr. Doerr to newspapers and the general public is misleading and untrue."
"In Mr. Doerr's report he said that the final planning of sanitary sewers and interceptors was completed. This is not true."

Granite City clerghmen inclin to be fought

(Related article on Page 3)
Granite City officials moved Monday night to establish "restrictions and controls" on medical clinic operations in which performance of abortions would be a part.

Acting in response to a plea by 31 Granite City clerghmen that the city "do everything possible" to eliminate "what the clergy feel is a serious moral problem," City Council members voted to notify clinic operators of Municipal opposition to the performance of abortion.

The aldermen instructed City Attorney George Filcoff to research the possibility of city ordinances that would control surgical clinic operations and prevent abortions as part of these operations.

Filcoff told the council that—despite existing state and federal laws and court rulings on the abortion issue—he is certain that some legal method of controlling clinic activities is possible.

He indicated he will report his findings at the Council's next meeting Monday, Nov. 26.

Council action came after the Rev. Robert L. Kettelhut, pastor of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, presented to the aldermen a "letter of concern" signed by 31 Protestant and Roman Catholic clerghmen who requested city action in the abortion issue.

The letter also pledged the clergy's "support and cooperation" with all doctors and other related agencies in a program of sex education, family planning and individual counseling with respect to human life and responsible parenthood.

Rev. Kettelhut told the aldermen that he became "deeply concerned" over announcement that a new surgical clinic is to open soon in the city.

"I have done some investigating on this issue and I realize some of the difficulties, namely with the present state of family planning and individual counseling with respect to human life and responsible
parenthood."

After Rev. Kettelhut presented the clergy's letter to the council, Alderman Roy Poulos moved that clinic operators be notified of the city's opposition to the performance of abortions and that the city attorney be instructed to "do whatever action might be taken by the council to establish controls."

Alderman Everett Morlen added the suggestion that the city attorney be instructed to bring in an ordinance at the next meeting.

Granite City Attorney Horace Calvo, who attended Monday night's council session because of a bond ordinance, told the council that he "feels very strongly about this issue." He is a state representative.

Calvo suggested that the council first notify clinic operators of their opposition, and then permit the city attorney to research the problem to determine what might be done before an actual ordinance is drafted.

The aldermen followed this pattern of action.

Granite City clerghmen inclin to be fought

Action to delay clinic activity was authorized by the 11 aldermen present on a voice vote, with none dissenting.

Specifics of how the city may attempt to set up legal obstacles were not outlined, but Alderman Walter F. Norn told the Council such procedures may include new ordinances for surgical clinic inspections and permits by the city government.

Rev. Kettelhut said he accepted his local position in May of 1970 "because I was impressed with the church and impressed with the city. I have continued to do this same high regard for both."

"It is assumed by some that the issue of abortion and the law is primarily a Roman Catholic Church vs. the state issue, since the Catholic position is such that they do not permit any form of abortion and the Supreme Court ruling does allow for them."

"What I have found these past few days is that there are many of my fellow clergy who are Protestant and many lay people of a variety of Protestant faiths who feel as I do regarding this matter."

"I am sure that since this announcement was made, the city has become outraged over the matter of an abortion clinic within this area."

"Couple the signed statement of 31 clerghmen, both Protestant and Catholic, with a statement against abortion by 29 doctors and I believe you have a strong case already to encourage you in the struggle to do something.

"The statement by the 31 came out of a meeting of the clergy last Friday concerning this issue."

"Although we hold some different views regarding abortion, all of us feel that it is morally wrong for our community."

"We all hold the Biblical view that respects the dignity and sanctity of life, even unborn life.
We can cite references in both the Old and New Testaments to support our claim," Rev.
Kettelhut continued.

"Every citizen should be encouraged to hold the same respect for life. Especially should this be true for ministers and doctors, who by their professions are called to give their life for the lives of others.
We clergy highly commend all doctors who have expressed their feelings against abortion."

"Many of us feel there are cases—when, for example, the life of the mother is at stake—that an abortion should be performed within a hospital."

"There are hospitals within our area that will do so under certain circumstances."
"But in these hospitals certain controls are placed on any one doctor so that no man by himself becomes the sole judge and jury. Even though Barnes Hospital is relaxing its abortion policy over the previous one, it is still recommending an ad-

Granite City clerghmen inclin to be fought

visory committee to review all requests for abortion.

"All doctors working within the framework of any hospital on any type of medical problem, surgical or otherwise, are subject to their peers—accountable for the welfare of their patients to other doctors, medical committees and the like."

"Such might not be the case in a private clinic. If not, we feel this is wrong both for the protection of the doctor and the protection of the patient."

Rev. Kettelhut told the aldermen, "We have heard that nothing can be done—that your hands are tied. We do not have a specific remedy but Normandy, Mo., did enact an ordinance banning abortions except under certain conditions, including the consent of three physicians. The mayor there is encouraging all other cities to do the same to bring pressure on the state."

"Public Act 78-227 on am-bulatory surgical treatment centers says the governor will appoint a licensing board of physicians and surgeons and that the first term of office will begin Oct. 1, 1973. By the time a Nov. 8 article appeared, plans had been approved, permits issued and a building here was well into its remodeling construction. How that all happened so suddenly is also a concern of ours."

"We hope that if something cannot be done immediately, at least a temporary measure can

'Tree of Lights' kick-off Saturday

The Salvation Army's "Tree of Lights" campaign to provide for needy Quad-City families will get under way Saturday with a free brunch at the Salvation Army headquarters, 19th Street and Grand Avenue, starting at 10 a.m. The public is invited to attend.

A $13,500 fund has been set for the annual fund-raising drive, an increase of $1,500 over the 1972 request, Ralph Astorian, Tree of Lights general chairman, announced today.

Following the brunch and kick-off, participants will adorn a tree in Park in the 1300 block of Niedringhaus Avenue opposite Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, where the first bulb will be illuminated on the large symbolic Christmas tree.

Headed the short program at the Salvation Army Citadel building, led by Astorian and Captain Ronald J. Kerley, officer in charge.

Representatives of various organizations who each year assist in the charitable program by ringing bells at street corners, together with Salvation Army board members, civic leaders and the general public are cordially invited to take part in the event, Captain Kerley said.

The Salvation Army officer said that applications for Christmas baskets will be accepted Monday through Friday, Nov. 26 to Nov. 30, at the headquarters building.

Those wishing to apply for food baskets are being asked to come to the office between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon and 1 and 4:30 p.m., Captain Kerley said.

"Our $13,500 goal is ambitious, but one we feel is very achievable," the Salvation Army officer spokesman said.
The 1973 Tree of Lights theme is "Sharing is Caring," Astorian
said.

Public meeting with Walker next Tuesday

Quad-Cityans are being reminded that Gov. Dan Walker has rescheduled an accountability session in Granite City for Tuesday, Nov. 27. The Nov. 6 session here was postponed because the governor was hospitalized with bronchitis.

The session will be held in Granite City High School North, located at Ill. Route 203 and Maryville Road, beginning at 7 p.m.

It will be the first opportunity for residents of Madison County to take part in an accountability session, with citizens asking the governor face to face about the conduct of state government. The Granite City session will be the 17th to be held since Gov. Walker took office in January. Previous sessions have been held in Chicago (2), Rockford, Peoria, Havana, Leland, Kincaid, Paris, East St. Louis, Mount Vernon, Marion, Champaign and Hillsdale.

The Granite City Rotary Club, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Tri-City Trades and Labor Council (AFL-CIO) and the Granite City Optimist Club are jointly arranging the session.

On-site hearings scheduled

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct on-site public hearings on zoning requests at three sites in the Quad-City area Monday.

At 9:30 a.m., the board will consider the petition of James L. Winning, assistant secretary of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan, owners, and Michael B. Welsch, occupant of a mobile home, requesting a special use permit for a mobile home in an R-2 single family residential district of Venice Township in the Bloodworth Subdivision on North Street.

At 9:55 a.m., the board will meet on the property of Barbara Hammond who is requesting a special use permit to place a double-wide mobile home in an Agricultural District of Chicago Township, on the gravel road near St. Thomas Road on the Old Chain of Rocks Road.

The third hearing will be held at 10:20 a.m. on the request of Frances D. Flynn, Frank E. Flynn, Frances L. Holt, Leland H. Holt, Marilyn I. Deatherage and Harry D. Deatherage, owners of three parcels of land, petitioning for rezoning of the parcels from R-3 single family residential to B-3 highway business district zoning for the triangle between Route 203, Morrison Road and Maryville Road.

708 board reverses stand

By a 4-2 vote Monday night, the Madison County Mental Health (708) Board overturned its previous approval of the annual budget, and voted to amend the document to retain an office clerk.

The original budget, approved Oct. 9, deleted a clerk-typist position at the board's Edwardsville office and did not provide funds for telephone and photocopy services at the office. The cut was about $6,000.

Monday night's meeting was called by Wayne Bridgewater of Roxana, a board member. Bridgewater obtained four signatures on the request for the meeting. Ralph Yemm, board chairman, who supported deleting the clerk-typist post, contended at the meeting that any action taken by the board could not be taken.

He asked for legal opinions from the state's attorney's office on whether the meeting was legal since no official public notice was given, and whether two members could change their votes on the budget without first withdrawing their Oct. 9 votes.

Whether the clerk-typist will remain will be decided when the legal opinions are returned.

Work will start on 20th Street signals

Contracts totaling more than $22.9 million for road improvements throughout the state have been awarded to successful low bidders, an Illinois Department of Transportation told the Press-Record Tuesday.

The only Madison County projects in the latest awards are:

Modification of traffic signals at the intersection of Edwardsville Road (Route 203) and 20th Street in Granite City. Chaney & Sons Co., Florissant, Mo., $12,626.

Four-tenths mile of pavement, plus traffic signals, at the intersection of Illinois Route 118 and Hawthorne Avenue in Hartford. Redi-Cut Stone Inc., Wood River, $161,110.

City to save

make the trip to Chicago, he said. The bonds are now being printed by the Columbian Banknote Co. of St. Louis.

The alderman also approved a motion by Alderman Sam Whitmer that a resolution be prepared placing the city on record as opposing a move by St. Clair County legislator to abolish the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

"We want to make it clear to our own legislators that we will go along with nothing less than a split of the present levee district on county lines," Whitmer said.

He noted that a General Assembly bill being prepared by State Rep. Monroe Flynn of St. Clair County is designed to abolish the present levee district and provide for levee maintenance functions under an administration created by mayors of the area, and a hired administrator employed by the mayors and county officials.

"We still want our own district with our own elected officials and will not consent to any appointed officials to handle the levee functions," Whitmer added.

Simmons to aid state screening

Walter T. "Bud" Simmons, chairman of the Madison County Democratic Central committee, has been appointed to serve as a member of an advisory committee which will assist the Democratic State Central Committee of Illinois in recommending candidates for the offices of United States senator and state treasurer.

The committee will meet in Springfield Tuesday at 11 a.m. in Caucus Room 1, 2, and 3 at the Sheraton Inn, 3090 Stevenson Drive, and in Chicago on Nov. 28 in the Walnut Room of the Bismarck Hotel at 11 a.m.

They were released on a $5,000 recognizance bond each.

Sewers

the first quarter of 1974 hopefully construction will be started on sewer in the developed areas.

"It should be known that Mr. Doerr has never attended one meeting of the Planning Committee or official meeting that I know of on which he can realistically base this information."

"Speaking honestly and sincerely, I have to tell you this is virtually impossible for several reasons:

1. "Detailed plans have not been completed.

2. "Easements must be obtained."

3. "Priorities for state grants have not been established at this time."

4. "The federal priority for the project is low and no federal funds for this project can be expected in 1974."

5. "Until the extent of state and federal funds is known, the townships do not know the amount of local funds to be raised by the sale of bonds."

"It is and has always been the sincere intent of your committee to obtain sanitary sewers for our people at the most economical cost."

"Congressman Melvin Price, Senator Sam Vadalabene, Representative Horace Calvo and Leland Kennedy and other local officials are lending their knowledge and influence to help us obtain funding as soon as possible."

"I believe it is very important that we don't let ourselves be misled by certain individuals who are making statements concerning the sewer program in an effort to gain political publicity for themselves."

"I am sure the engineers, sewer committee and officials are doing everything possible to get our project started as soon as possible, remembering that obtaining federal and state funds takes much time and effort and that it has taken Granite City over three years to get funding for the secondary treatment plant that the federal government had ordered them to have completed this year."

"Mr. Doerr promised in the campaign in 1971 that if he was elected we would get sewers in six months. What happened?"

31 pastors outline their views on abortion to Granite City aldermen

A "letter of concern," signed by 31 Granite City clergy—Protestant and Roman Catholic—was presented to the City Council Monday night by the Rev. Robert L. Kettelhut. The letter is in opposition to a proposed "abortion clinic," he said. It calls for the Council to "do everything possible" to eliminate what the clergy describes as a serious moral problem.

Each minister signed with the understanding that his feelings may not represent the feelings of all members of each pastor's congregation, Rev. Kettelhut said.

A number of the ministers did attach an additional statement to the letter, in which their signature was in agreement with their congregation's feelings, he related.

In addition to seeking a ban on clinics, the clergy "affirmed their Biblical beliefs regarding the rights and dignity of all life, even unborn life."

The statement is concerned with "the moral fiber of the community," he said.

"To this the clergy pledge their support and cooperation with all doctors and other related agencies in a program of sex education, family planning and individual counseling with respect to human life and responsible parenthood."

Clergymen who signed the statement to the City Council were:

Rev. Donald Clark, Rev. Paul R. Surbey, Rev. Carl P. Eschenbrenner, Rev. Ellis H. Dugger, Rev. William D. Fester, Rev. Roy L. Baugh, Rev. Arvin Twitemeyer, Rev. Bob Worley.

Text of the letter to Granite City aldermen follows:

We, the clergy of Granite City, are greatly concerned about the announced outpatient surgery clinic which will perform abortions as reported in the Nov. 8 issue of the Press-Record.

We represent a variety of churches with a variety of theological backgrounds.

We realize that this statement does not intend to state each individual theological concern, but these things we do have in common and thereby we can give rise to our signature on this document.

1. A responsible position concerning abortion should be based on a consideration of the rights of the individual woman, her potential child, her family and society, as well as the rights of the fetus.

2. Standing in the Hebrew-Christian tradition, we affirm God as the Source of Life; our life, all life, life to its fullness. God has not only called us to freedom but to responsibility to share in the works of his creation. Therefore, we believe in the freedom bound to responsibility.

3. Our religious heritage also stresses reverence for human life, all human life including the weak and the defenseless. Our legal system at its best has long protected these who cannot protect themselves.

It is therefore our desire to protect that organism which should not "disavow" its responsibility in this regard.

4. We call upon you, the City Council, to give serious consideration to the proposed abortion clinic for Granite City. What it will mean to our city and particularly what it will mean to all human life—both the strong as well as the defenseless and unborn.

5. Furthermore, we realize that certain existing state and federal legislation makes it difficult for you to act as you may wish at this time.

We, therefore, call your attention to the fact that other neighboring municipalities have done something to bring the light of our current problem. We hope you will be eager to investigate all possible avenues of action.

6. As clergymen we are deeply concerned with the moral fiber of our community, including all its people. We stand ready to assist you in whatever way possible if that be within the dictates of our conscience and our beliefs.

Among these ways would include a better program of sex education and private counseling on all matters including problem pregnancies, including such things as family planning and the respect for human life along with responsible parenthood would be our goal.

7. Lastly, we will be glad to work with all other agencies in our community of like concern in order to bring this about and help our city to a greater degree of moral and spiritual fulfillment. Thank you for giving this your kind and prompt consideration and your urgent legislative action.

8. We call upon you, the City Council, to give serious consideration to the proposed abortion clinic for Granite City. What it will mean to our city and particularly what it will mean to all human life—

Price favors bipartisan effort on fuel shortage

In a statement this week on the nation's energy crisis, Rep. Melvin Price asserted that full cooperation between Congress and the President is essential to alleviate fuel shortages.

"The situation is, without question, one of the most serious the nation has ever faced," said the local congressman. "Partisan politics has to take a back seat."

The congressman disagreed with the President, however, as to the latter's assertion that Congress has failed to act to meet the crisis.

"We passed a bill last April giving the President authority to impose a mandatory fuel allocation program," said Price, "but he has not utilized it."

"He also noted that Congress has passed the Alaska pipeline bill, which would result in new supplies of petroleum."

"In reality," said Price, "it is the President who is late in acting. But debate over who should have acted and when serves no present purpose."

"We must get on with the business of equitably allocating existing fuel supplies and expenditures."

Price's Joint Committee on Atomic Energy met with the House Government Operations Committee to formulate legislation which would establish an Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA).

In his energy message, President Nixon requested that Congress give priority to creation of ERDA, which is separate from the President's proposal to create a new Department of Energy and Natural Resources.

ERDA would direct the $10 billion program aimed at achieving a national capacity for energy self-sufficiency by 1980.

Rep. Price has spoken in favor of a bill which would increase Social Security benefits by 7 per cent on March 1 and by 4 per cent on June 1.

He noted that Congress previously agreed to a 3.9 per cent increase, but delayed it a year to avoid a Presidential veto.

"Today's legislation," said Rep. Price, "would replace this inadequate measure."

He supports such legislation out of concern that older Americans, most of whom live on fixed incomes, will be unable to keep up with rising prices.

Improvements to Interstate

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, D - Edwardsville, has been informed by the Illinois Department of Transportation that a contract has been awarded for major improvements on Interstate 55 between Worden and Interstate 270 to Thacker Construction Company, Bituminous Fuel and Oil Co. and Thompson Asphalt Co.

The three contracting firms were awarded the contract on the basis of a joint low bid of $7,760,714. Bids were taken for the work by the Illinois Department of Transportation on Oct. 30. The planned improvements consist of four major parts:

1) Lowering Interstate 55 for more clearance and better sight distance as it passes under IC railroad tracks near I-270.

2) Lowering Interstate 55 at Illinois 4 for better clearance and sight distance (new ramps are already under contract for this interchange).

3) Lowering Interstate 55 for better clearance and sight distance at Illinois 143 and providing new, more gradual ramps in the interchange.

4) Lowering Interstate 55 for better clearance and sight distance at Illinois 143 and providing new, more gradual ramps in the interchange.

The work also will include interchange lighting, drainage improvements and eventual channelization of ramps.

Steeler cage prospects bright—Ohlendorf

Greg Gauert, Dennis McBride, Larry Jones, Rick Spurlock, Dave Schnefke, Tom Shocker, Otto Seebold and Cary Simpson.

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer
The basketball Steelers of GCHS North have taken shape and with Coach William Ohlendorf, who served as head mentor of the Venice Red Devils for 12 years, the new squad promises to be one of the best in the area.

In pre-season, the biggest thing I had to do was to become more knowledgeable about the players.

We don't seem to be blessed with a lot of speed this year, so needless to say we won't be able to run a great deal. We'll probably be a zone pressing defensive team, mixing some man-to-man defense with zone defense. I know we'll have to slow the ball down and take advantage of what little bit of height we do have," he commented.

The squad's height stands with 6'9" sophomore Rick Spurlock and 6'7" senior Dave Schnefke, the only players who are over six feet, three inches. "Spurlock is looking good," remarks Ohlendorf, "but he'll more than likely see action primarily with the jayvee squad to get more game experience."

That leaves the Steelers with Schnefke or 6'3" senior Otto Seebold to fill the center position.

"Both are real strong players, Schnefke represents our size and is our pivot man. He developed real well in early fall and is an excellent shooter. "Seebold will be our relief pivot man. He is probably one of the best rebounders in the area," he noted.

Coach Ohlendorf said Seebold has recovered fully from injuries received earlier this fall in football and is stronger than ever.

Three players are vying for the starting forward positions. They are Cary Simpson, Mike Waldo and Greg Gauert.

"Simpson is a very good jumper and an excellent 18-foot shooter. Gauert also jumps well, has good speed and promises to be one of the best outer-court shooters around," Ohlendorf said.

Both stand 6'3" with Simpson being a senior at 170-pounds and Gauert a junior at 168-pounds. Waldo is a 169-pound 6'3" junior who shows a lot of good talent on the court. It's going to be hard to make a decision as to who fills the vacancies."

Gene Logas, the football Steelers' quarterback, Don Lloyd and Daryl Page are bidding for guard positions.

According to Ohlendorf, "Logas has good hustle and plays very good defense. Lloyd plays well and is a better than average shooter, he'll more than likely be point man-on the press."

"Page also is a good shooter. All three stand 6'0" and Lloyd is a senior where Page and Logas are juniors."

North acquired six of its players in the split of the Granite City high schools, Schnefke, Lloyd, Simpson, Dennis McBride, Logas, and Gauert, all of whom saw cage action at South last year.

"Some coaches adjust to the talent at hand, and some have a system and try to adjust the talent to their system. I have always tried to fit the system to the talent I have available to me," the coach explained.

Ohlendorf's past record reflects the success of his strategy. A graduate of Erskine College in South Carolina where he studied on a basketball scholarship after graduating from Venice High School, he returned to his hometown high school 12 years ago as its head basketball coach and posted an impressive 228-91 record.

Last year he led the Red Devils to a third place finish in the state Class A finals at Champaign.

The Steelers open the 1973 season Friday, Nov. 30, at 6:30 p.m., playing host to Springfield-Griffin, a team Ohlendorf has never seen in action.

"Our first few games will be sort of an adjustment period for all of us; we expect some of our toughest competition to be members of the Southwestern Conference."

"Belleville East and West, Edwardsville and Collinsville all will be big games, and will be formidable opponents."

"With basis on returning lettermen, to my knowledge Triad, Mater Dei, O'Fallon and Roxana all figure to have good talent coming back," he commented.

The head cage mentor indicated that although he is very optimistic about his new team, he will cautiously look only at one game at a time.

If the new basketball Steelers are anything like the school's soccer and football teams, they should be a very competitive squad.

MHS cagers to open at tourney

The Trojans of Madison High School will kick off the area's 1973 cage season this weekend with a three game schedule in the Collinsville Tournament. They meet Thornton-North at 7 o'clock Friday night, Christian Brothers College of Quincy Saturday at 1 p.m. and then return to the courts at 8:30 that evening for a clash with Collinsville.

Coach Larry Graham, who a few weeks ago was very optimistic about his cagers, is now worrying about the Trojans' ability to perform at peak efficiency in the tournament.

"One of our key starters, 6'2" Daryl Franklin, is nursing a sore ankle and the flu," reports Graham. "We're counting on him to score a lot of points for us as a forward."

"Also, we have just acquired Chris Stanley and Willie Shearry from the football squad. Neither has had as much time to practice and get in shape as we would like."

Stanley at 6'1" is slated to start as a forward, and Shearry as a six foot guard. Graham said the situation necessitated moving Jon Hinke from guard to forward.

"If Franklin feels he can play

we'll go with him on a limited action basis," he said.

Scheduled to start also are 6'1" forward Rudolph Bradley and center Carl Campbell, a 6'2" senior.

Madison will meet two of the three schools for the first time, Thornton-North and Christian Brothers of Quincy. Collinsville defeated the Trojans 70-65 in regular season play last year.

"I know very little about Thornton," said Graham, "but Quincy is going to be a tough opponent. It has always been in the state's top ten in the small school division. Collinsville remains to be seen, it has only one returning letterman on the squad."

"Our team, no matter how it performs this weekend, will be a lot stronger, and hopefully healthier, around the first of the year," Graham commented. Jan. 11 is the proposed date three of Madison's returning starters from last year may join the team. Kevin Boyd, Alvin Wigfall and Evan Dandridge have been ruled ineligible to play until that date.

"We won't be running or pressing a lot, but I think we'll make a good showing in the tournament," the coach concluded.

Mat, cage park programs set

The Granite City Park District has announced its winter sports program schedule, which includes basketball, volleyball, ball, both beginning Saturday at three local schools.

Wrestling will be held at Coolidge Junior High at 9 a.m. with registration and weigh-in for area youngsters. They will be divided into age groups before beginning weekly wrestling instruction.

Basketball, which will include fundamental skills such as passing, shooting, dribbling and guarding, will be held at Nameoki Grade School and Coolidge and Frather Junior High schools. Fifth and sixth grade boys are requested to report to the school nearest their home at 9 a.m. Saturday and third and fourth grade boys at 10:30 a.m.

All participants must have Park district insurance. For those not already insured, a $2 per person insurance fee is required.

Additional information is available from Mike Jessee at the park office, 877-3059.

Pashea and Allen cited as promising Cougar harriers

When Coach John Flamer began the cross-country program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville back in 1967, he set as his goal national prominence for the Cougar harriers. In the season just completed, his runners made gigantic strides toward attaining that target.

"We now have the nucleus of an excellent team," Flamer says. "We're very young—with a number of fine freshman runners who, with a little more experience, will get even better. I feel that our squad is two strong runners away from becoming a national contender. If we can come up with those two, we will be right in the thick of things when the nationals come around next fall."

Flamer needs those two top harriers to replace a pair of outstanding runners lost from this season's team, which bettered its performance in the national tournament by 15 places from 35th in 1972 to 20th this fall.

The two men the Cougars will miss in 1974 are seniors Gary Baxter and Tim LaBrosse, both transfers from Vincennes (Ind.) Junior College. LaBrosse was the Cougars' No. 4 runner while Baxter ran in the first position, setting SUIE records for the four, five and six-mile events.

Baxter covered six miles in 32 minutes 15 seconds as he set a new four-mile mark in 19:36. He wrote a new Cougar record for five miles in the Notre Dame Invitational with a 24:32 showing.

"Gary's five-mile record was one of the highlights of our season," Flamer notes. "To be honest, I didn't think he would run that well, but he worked extremely hard and bettered his 1972 times by two minutes. A coach couldn't ask any more from a guy like Gary."

"A couple of other runners who really improved were Joe Pashea and Mike Allen, both from Granite City. Their hard work is the sort of thing the whole team must do to become a national contender. Pashea and Allen will be back next year and should really help us."

Another top Cougar returnee next fall is freshman Kevin Walker of Riverview Gardens High School, St. Louis. Walker came out of nowhere late in the season to become Flamer's number two runner behind Baxter.

In the last two meets of the season, Walker even gave Baxter a battle for the top position. Walker finished just 17 seconds behind Baxter in a quad meet Nov. 2, and was just six seconds off Gary's time in the NCAA Small College Championships Nov. 10. In the nationals, Baxter placed 67th while Walker was 91st in a 300 runner field.

Flamer also hopes for big things from freshman Jerome Pittman, Seldon High School, St. Louis, and Steve Vida of Edwardsville High. Pittman was "red-shirted" this fall while Vida ran on the Cougar junior varsity.

A fifth runner, Denny Burris, will rejoin the squad after a four-year tour of duty in the Army.

"With the young talent we have and the prospects we hope to add, we feel we have excellent chance for national honors the next couple of years," Flamer concludes. "We have the nucleus to do it. All we have to do now is put it all together."

The SUIE team 1973 record: Second of three teams at Lincoln University Sept. 15; second of three teams at Westminster College Sept. 22; first of seven teams in the Cougar Invitational Sept. 29.

Ninth of 14 teams in the Indiana University Invitational Oct. 12; 29th of 35 teams in the Notre Dame Invitational Oct. 12; third of three teams at Valparaiso University Oct. 13; 11th of 19 teams in the South-west Missouri State Invitational Oct. 20; ninth of 12 teams in the Illinois State Invitational Oct. 27.

First of four teams at SUIE Nov. 2, and 20th of 40 teams in the NCAA Small College Championships Nov. 10.

Midwest soccer games Saturday

Play in the Midwest Division I National Collegiate Athletic Association soccer tournament will get under way Saturday, with two games scheduled at SUIE's Cougar Field.

In the leadoff contest, starting at 11:30 a.m., the nation's No. 1 college power, St. Louis University (9-1-2) will tangle with Bowling Green State University of Ohio (9-1-0).

That afternoon, the country's No. 2 collegiate soccer powerhouse, the host Cougars, will battle the Huskies of Northern Illinois University of DeKalb.

SUIE, which won last year's college division national crown, goes into the tourney with a 10-1-1 record and Northern is 7-1-2. The Huskies' only loss was a 1-0 setback at the hands of the Cougars in the finals of the

Mat Cougars to open in South

The SUIE wrestling team is looking so sharp in practice that Coach Larry Kristoff is at a loss to name any particular outstanding individual. But he will have a few of his Cougars to list by Saturday.

That's when the finals of the two-day Southern Invitational will be held at Chattanooga, Tenn. Kristoff expects his Cougars to come away with several individual titles.

"If we do win some championships, I'll know that we have a fine team, because the finest collegiate wrestlers in the country will be participating in the Invitational," Kristoff explained. "We will have to be in top form to beat the caliber of talent we will be wrestling against."

Among the more notable individuals in the tournament, which boasts a field of 70 teams, will be the Peterson brothers, Ben, an Olympic gold medalist in the 190-pound weight class, and John, an Olympic silver medalist in the 177 classification, may both appear in the 190 class, wrestling unattached to any school or club.

PREPARING FOR SEASON OPENER. Robin Rummel (white shirt, center) and Jerry Washington work on holds in preparation for SUIE's initial match of the 1973-74 wrestling campaign, at the Southern Invitational to be held at Chattanooga, Tenn., Friday and Saturday.

Daily opportunities for comet watchers

Comet Kohoutek may be one of the most spectacular celestial events of the century, according to SIUE astronomers, Ronald Bruno and Roger Hill.

It may be brighter than the well-known Haley comet, Bruno said. "Haley's comet, which recurs every 76 years, is fainter because of its periodicity, not because it is the brightest comet that has ever been seen."

At present Kohoutek, named for the man who first found it, looks like a faint star.

"Until Dec. 28, when it will be very bright, you will have to look in the morning sky before sunrise," Hill said, "because that's the side of the sun it is on. On Dec. 28 it will go around the sun and then it can be seen after sundown."

"It can probably be seen best from Jan. 1-15 because it will be high enough not to be too close to the sun."

This is the first bright comet discovered this far in advance, the astronomers said. It was first found nine months ago, giving astronomers time to plan equipment, start programs and look for good viewing spots.

At the first of December the comet should start having a tail, according to the SIUE scientists.

"The sun sets up kind of a wind machine," Bruno explained. "That's what gives the comet its tail."

"The tail of the comet always points away from the sun. The main tail is caused by particles of gas and dust being driven out by the pressure of the sunlight."

"It always goes away from the sun, but because the comet is moving at the same time everything is being driven out, the tail ends up being curved. When the comet is going away from the sun, the tail is actually ahead."

The comet has been likened to a dirty snowball. Bruno and Hill describe it as a large mass of frozen gases, dust and gravel.

"It really isn't a very solid object," Hill explained, "and it is pretty light as far as celestial objects go. When it gets near the sun, the gas starts heating up and forms sort of a halo, or coma, around the comet."

"The massive part of Kohoutek is about 15 miles in diameter, which is much larger than most comets."

It is difficult to predict how bright Kohoutek will be, Hill said, because it depends on just how it's coming toward the sun and how it behaves when it gets near the sun.

"Free estimates ranged from something like the brightness of Venus, which is the brightest planet, to the brightness of the full moon. Latest estimates are that it will probably be more like Venus."

Kohoutek will get as close as about 13 million miles from the sun, the astronomers said, "about one-third of the distance of Mercury from the sun. It is coming closer than any of the planets."

Scientists believe then can learn much about the origin of the solar system by studying the exact composition of comets, Bruno said.

"It is theorized that comets are part of the primordial solar system—before it had even formed—but were just too far away from the central nucleus where things were forming to ever really become a sun or planet."

"Kohoutek is a one-shot comet," according to Hill. "Its orbit is such that it comes in and goes out again and probably won't return for a million years. If it ever returns at all."

"The last bright comet was Comet Bennett, which was visible around Easter time in 1970."

The physics department at SIUE has regular viewing sessions on Thursday nights during the academic year at its sky pad off Bluff Road, and plans to have some early morning sessions in December to view the comet.

Completes management course
Thomas Patton of Granite City, finishing supervisor, Owens-Illinois, Inc., Madison, has completed the Unit III course in Wittenberg University's management development program at Springfield, Ohio.

The week-long programs concentrate in four areas: behavioral studies and motivation, communications and leadership, management functions and methods, and economics and personnel relations.

Developed in 1951, the Wittenberg Management Development Program consists of a series of five-day on-campus courses. During the 22 years more than 750 different companies representing a wide variety of industrial, commercial and medical concerns have released over 14,000 supervisors from their normal responsibilities and sponsored their participation in the management course.

The program is designed to provide foremen and supervisors with an opportunity to match their technical proficiency with an equal degree of management competence.

Attend Red Cross workshop
The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross participated in a disaster workshop for nurses, community leaders, and volunteers, last week at Greenville, Ill.

Representing the chapter were members of the disaster committee, Gus Sacadat, Jack Mulach, Maxine Dunham, first aid chairman, Jay McCrone, and Chapter Director Ruby Overbeck.

The workshop, sponsored by the Bi-State Division of the American Red Cross, was designed to train people who could be called upon in time of disaster.

The training was geared to enable the participants in understanding the nature of disaster, like working with the Cross in disaster, the services needed by disaster victims and its volunteers.

Emergency disasters and preventive action to stop disaster, like working with the Corps of Engineers and others on Chouteau Island last spring, was discussed, considering the needs of shelter, clothes, food, and medical aid.

TELEVISION OVERHEATS
An overheated television transformer at the home of Robert Byrne, 2317 Grand Ave., caused Granite City firemen to be called to the house during the weekend. The fire caused only minor damage.

FIRE IN MITCHELL
Mitchell volunteer firemen extinguished a fire in the wooden floor of a utility room at the home of Ralph E. Thomas, 59th Fleming Place, Mitchell, during the weekend. The flame from a gas water heater set a map on the floor ablaze and the map ignited the floor, firemen said. The fire caused about $100 damage.

55th year for 'Mission Behind Mill'

The annual Thanksgiving praise and prayer service at the Gospel Mission, 2014 E. 20th St., will take place at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The public is invited to attend and hear the Rev. Charles Williams, superintendent of the Sunshine Mission, St. Louis, guest minister for the service. Special inspirational music also will be part of the program.

Mrs. Bethel J. Davis, mission superintendent, said today.

Known as the "mission behind the mill" for more than five decades, the Gospel Mission is observing its 55th anniversary during November, Mrs. Davis explained.

Services are held each Sunday and Thursday evening, with Sunday school sessions at 9 a.m. Classes are conducted for all age levels by well trained teachers, she said.

Edison N. Bontcher, of Fairview Heights, representing the Brookside Bible Institute of St. Louis, will preach at this Sunday's service.

The month-long observance will conclude with a special program Sunday, Nov. 29, when the Rev. John M. Rion of Springfield, Ill., a former radio minister and gospel singer on Radio Station WGNL, will deliver the message and music.

In 1919, six small boys and girls attended the first Sunday school in the Davis home. Two Sundays later, the attendance had increased to 35 and, by Christmas, a total of 175 children and young people was coming to services, Mrs. Davis explained.

At that time, the Granite City Board of Education offered the use of Liberty School on Sunday afternoons. The school building continued to be the meeting place for 18 years until it was decided to hold services for adults, as well as the children, Mrs. Davis said.

Present at the first combined service were 12 adults and 60 youngsters.

Attendance, however, increased so quickly that the Davis family rented the Pastor Building, located in the 2000 block of 20th Street, remaining there for nine years until the present mission facility was occupied.

Mrs. Davis said it is difficult to calculate the number of individuals and families the Gospel Mission has touched and influenced throughout its 55-year history.

Nearly every church in the community has members who were baptized and converted at the Mission altar, or attended services at the "mission behind the mill" at some point in their lives, the superintendent commented.

"We hope all our 'old' friends will join with the current members in helping to celebrate our 55th anniversary month by attending one of our November programs," Mrs. Davis said.

1973 LEWIS & CLARK EXPEDITION passed through the Granite City locks Monday enroute to their destination at the St. Louis Arch. Five young men, in two canoes and a kayak, have traveled 3,750 miles from the Pacific Coast to St. Louis. Standing on the lock wall at left is Carl A. Ranft, general manager of the Tri-City Regional Port Authority and member of the Lewis & Clark Historical Commission. At upper right is Howard B. Keeney, lockmaster. (Press-Record Photo)

Lewis and Clark 'explorers' end 3,750 mile journey

A group of five young men retracing by foot and canoe the 3,750 mile return route of explorers Meriwether Lewis and William Clark from the Pacific Coast to St. Louis, wound up their five and a half month trip Monday, a short time after they "locked" through the Chain of Rocks canal on the Granite City riverfront.

After leaving from the coast on June 7, the modern adventures peddled 479 miles up the Columbia and Snake rivers and then backpacked 435 miles across the Rocky Mountains to the headwaters of the Missouri river.

The men are Bob Miller, a photographer and former Canadian wilderness guide of Albuquerque, N. M.; Gary Kinsey, a writer and photographer of Independence, Mo.; Mike Wien, a public relations consultant of Highland Park, Ill.; Mike Cochran, illustrator of Grand Junction, Colo.; and Clay Asher, an outdoorsman and Eagle Scout of Twin Falls, Idaho.

Ceremonies were held at the Gateway Arch at 10:30 a.m. Monday. Several receptions and dinners for members of the party and their families were planned.

Kinsey plans to write a story following the Lewis and Clark trail. An illustrated log will be drawn by Cochran, entitled "Lewis and Clark from Heaven to St. Louis."

Another book will be a pictorial essay including many of the 6,000 color slides taken along the trail and a book on cooking over an open fire with recipes.

State monitors 1,600 public water supplies

Rebecca went to the well, as all Bible students know, and what she drew was what she drank.

She little cared if it contained arsenic, barium, cadmium, cyanide, fluoride, mercury, manganese, selenium, silver or sulfate.

She could be reasonably sure—if she'd been interested—that it didn't contain organophosphorus insecticides or chlorophenol herbicides.

Rebecca's well might or might not have gotten the approval of the division of public water supplies or the Health EPA. But she and the other villagers wouldn't have been able to fill their pots and jugs until the above, and a lot more, had been checked, in the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency had been on the job then.

The EPA, and its public water supply section, are very much on the job in Illinois today, being sure the water provided by more than 1,600 public water supplies meets acceptable standards for safety and aesthetics.

Not only are strict standards set—and enforced—for the previously listed chemicals, but for chloride, chromium, copper, iron, lead, nitrates, nitrites, zinc, radioactivity, turbidity, color and foaming agents, as well as for bacteria.

Ira Markwood, manager of the surveillance section in public water supplies, says the section tries to visit each of the 1,600-plus water sources at least once yearly to inspect operations, procedures, equipment and the finished product.

The end result of all this is something most people take for granted—safe, clear, non-foaming, uncolored, tasteless, odorless drinking water spilling from the tap when wanted.

Getting the desired end result requires a varying amount of doing. Generally, says Markwood, more is required when the source is surface water because there is more chance then for contamination.

Determining the needs, and meeting them, is the responsibility first of the local engineer or operators in charge of the source.

A public water supply source, by the way, includes not only sources in incorporated municipalities but any source serving or intended to serve 10 or more properties.

Recent legislative changes supported by the EPA should improve efficiency at that level, Markwood said, since a certified engineer can now upgrade himself by taking an examination, and he will no longer lose his certification when he leaves his job.

To do all this testing, the section normally has 17 engineers based in five regions in the state, though presently the Aurora region has only three and a vacancy, instead of four.

Others include Rockford, Marion, and Springfield with three each, Collinsville with two, and two more at the Champaign sub-region to the Springfield office.

Backing them up is the lab staff, which examines from two to six samples required from each system monthly, depending on the size of the operation. Really big ones, like Chicago, which would require more than six a month, must make their own provisions for laboratory testing and then send the results monthly to the section.

Fortunately, Markwood says, "almost invariably" operators want their water supplies to be providing good water. But accidents can happen and, when they do, taking the right steps can be crucial.

Though the section has the authority to close down a source, it tries to provide emergency corrective treatment instead, and then require permanent correction.

When citizens lose confidence in their water supply, says John Anderson, manager of the Public Water Supply Division, they frequently turn to far less safe sources with "significantly greater" risks. These may include local springs, or even bottled water.

200 honored at park banquet

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer

"Parade of Champions" was the theme of the Granite City Park District's 14th annual Sports Award Banquet Monday night as more than 600 persons jammed into GCHS South's cafeteria to honor the area's young athletes of 1973.

More than 197 awards in six categories were presented to area teams—tennis, football, baseball, women's softball, men's softball and basketball—as well as service and appreciation awards to individuals who have contributed time and services in supporting youth programs in this community.

Perhaps the most exciting attraction to the youngsters was the presence of four of the nation's top sports figures—Dal Maxvill, Pittsburgh Pirate baseball player and former Granite Cityan, Rick Wise, a Boston Red Sox hurler, Joe Hoerner, pitcher for the Kansas City Athletics, and Cardinal football star Tom Banks.

"All four of us got our start in amateur athletics," Maxvill told the audience. "In fact I used to play baseball with Mayor Paul Schuler."

Adding a little humor he commented, "I don't know how he is at City Council meetings, but before when he got mad he would chase the umpires all over the playing field."

Before presenting the trophies to the league named in his honor, Maxvill, who began his career with the Police League in 1951, told the youngsters, "Everyone can't win. Someone has to lose. But, win or lose, I think it's a real tribute to a young athlete if, no matter what he is trying to do, he gives the best he is capable of giving."

Speaking indirectly to adults who were present, Maxvill added, "I think a lot of pressure is being put on today's youth because too much stress is put on winning. Sportsmanship and pure enjoyment of a sport is all but ignored."

"Winning should not be so important at their age. Learning to cope with given situations and developing habits of doing their best in those situations should be the most important," he added.

Rick Wise, speaking of today's youth, said, "They are much more perceptive than when I was growing up. They are more enlightened because the new media have made them much more aware of events."

"I think modern facilities and better coaching and teaching techniques have given youngsters great opportunities to excel at just about anything they want."

Of the 321 teams which participated in the Park District's 1973 sports programs, 65 more than last year, many did excel and received their just reward at the banquet.

Park Commissioners Jacob Hinterer and Robert Patrick presented service awards to three individuals who have contributed time and effort in supporting the youth programs. Two representing the softball program and the other a representative of the area's baseball program.

Burt Treadwell, manager of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church softball team, was the first service award recipient. He was cited for having spent at least ten years in the softball program and four years on the softball rules and protest committee.

Nick Petrillo, an active player in the softball program, was recognized for having managed and his sponsorship of many teams in the 35 and over division. He also served on the rules committee.

Jack Scarborough, cited as an outstanding softball and baseball player, received recognition for his support of Park District sports programs, having served as a coach and manager. He was applauded not only for improving the sports local schedule, but also for AUTOGRAPHED FOOTBALLS and baseballs were given to many of the young athletes attending the Granite City Park District banquet. initiating a travel league to play against teams in other areas. Barry Loman, vice-president of the Granite City Park District saved the most coveted award for last.

"This year's appreciation award," he began, "is presented to a man who in his 18 years as Park Commissioner, is responsible for many of the sports programs and facilities available to this area's youth. Through his time and devotion, many of these were made possible."

"Will Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baumeier please step up here?" Mrs. Baumeier was presented with one dozen red roses and Mr. Baumeier received the highest award presented to an individual by the Park District.

Amidst the signing of autographs, Wise, Hoerner and Banks unanimously agreed with Maxvill who commented, "This is really great. When these youngsters grow up to become young men and young ladies, their characters will be reflected by the winning habits they have developed here this year."

Smoking poster contest

J. Lawrence Keshner, president of Lewis-Clark Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, has urged Madison County students in grades four through 12 to enter the seventh annual statewide Smoking Poster Contest, sponsored by the Illinois Lung Association.

Packets of materials for student guidance in choosing factual information have been sent to school principals and librarians; announcements listing contest rules and regulations have been distributed to teachers.

Students may illustrate any phase of smoking which depicts hazards of smoking or advantages of non-smoking.

Originality, effectiveness of message, factuality and artistic value will be used as the basis for selecting winners.

Initial judging will be done by regional groups which will submit winners' posters for statewide competition.

Deadline for sending posters to the Lewis-Clark Association's headquarters offices in Wood River (525 Old St. Louis Road, P.O. Box 158) is Monday, Dec. 10.

The Illinois Lung Association will select winners in each of three grade categories: four through six; seven through nine; and 10 through 12.

Each winner will receive a $25 savings bond. Schools represented by winning students will receive $25 for use in promoting health education programs.

Contest rules stipulate: all posters must be on 8 1/2-inch by 11-inch paper; the work of one student; one poster per student; and have artist's printed identification attached to back of poster.

All entries become the property of Illinois Lung Association and will not be returned.

UP, UP AND AWAY—It is not uncommon to see red and white or blue and white passenger balloons gliding along just above the treetops in the vicinity of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. According to Federal Aviation Administration officials, there are four licensed balloons in the St. Louis region, and two of them are owned by Robert W. Esch, a landscape architect and licensed airplane pilot who lives near Edwardsville. Esch is a qualified balloon flight instructor, and three of his students, including his wife, Candy, took their balloon flight tests recently in early morning ascensions from the soccer practice fields at SIUE. Launches are planned when the air is calm because balloons are at the mercy of the winds. Altitude is controlled by inflating or deflating the balloon, but otherwise, the craft goes where the wind takes it. The air in the balloon expands after being heated by propane gas burners located above the heads of the passengers. Mrs. Esch is shown at left firing up the burners before the passenger "basket" is turned on its side (second picture) to blow hot air from the burners into the balloon. In the third picture, the 88-foot high balloon, which has a diameter of 55 feet, begins to expand, and the fourth photo shows the fully inflated balloon with a student pilot aboard who is receiving instructions from FAA Flight Examiner Carl West (lower right) of St. Louis. Esch is holding a cable attached to the balloon. At right, after being released, the balloon glides above the SIUE campus at Esch's favorite cruising altitude with four passengers aboard.

Douglas Parker, in an M-1 limited manufacturing district of Chouteau Township in Chouteau Place Subdivision on Chouteau Slough Road, recommended for a period not to exceed five years; Eugene Carroll, in an M-4 district in Chouteau Township, adjacent to Parker's property.

HOLIDAY SERVICE, 432-3131

Illinois ready to mark 155th year

Illinois became a state on Dec. 3, 1818, and Gov. Dan Walker has proclaimed the day this year as Statehood Day and week Nov. 26-Dec. 3 as Illinois History Week.

As part of the 155th anniversary observance, the Illinois State Historical Library and State Historical Society will display materials on the early years of statehood.

The exhibit, at the Old State Capitol in Springfield, will include some of the library's valuable collections of books on early travel and discovery, gazetteers, maps and "how-to" books for immigrants.

Illinois State Historian William K. Alderfer, head of the Historical Library and executive director of the State Historical Society, explained to the Press-Record this week that Illinois had a great number of talented—and sometimes titled—visitors prior to the Civil War.

Their writings resulted in three or four books a year—some in the form of reports to newspapers in the East later published in book form, and others sent directly to publishers. In this way, many paid the expenses of their travels.

Alderfer said 600 books on early Illinois travel and exploration make up one of the Historical Library's most valuable collections. More than 450 titles were published before the beginning of the Civil War—65 of these before 1800.

Best known of the half dozen titled foreign visitors to Illinois was the Marquis de Lafayette, one of the most admired heroes of the American Revolution. His visit was undoubtedly also the shortest.

He arrived at Kaskaskia from St. Louis aboard the steamer Natchez about noon on Apr. 30, 1825, and attended a reception, banquet and ball. He was back on the boat by midnight.

He went on to Nashville and then to Shawneetown for a Sunday stop May 5. The account of Lafayette's visits appeared in two volumes under the title "Lafayette in America, 1824 and 1825" by Auguste Levasseur "secretary to General Lafayette during his journey."

Levasseur devoted 20 pages to the day in Kaskaskia but only part of a paragraph to the stop at Shawneetown.

Most prolific and accurate of the early gazetteer writers was John Mason Peck, a circuit-riding Baptist minister, author and educator.

Peck came to Illinois in 1822. He settled first at Rock Spring, near Lebanon. In 1827 he helped establish Rock Spring Seminary, which was later moved to Upper Alton and renamed Shurtleff College.

Peck traveled constantly throughout Illinois, Indiana and Missouri, carried on a heavy correspondence, and produced many guidebooks and gazetteers.

In a revised version of his "Guide for Emigrants to the West" Peck described Chicago in the 1830s as "the largest commercial town in Illinois."

"A recent communication from a respectable mercantile house, gives the following statistics: Fifty-one stores, 30 groceries, 10 taverns, 12 physicians, 21 attorneys and 4,000 inhabitants. We have four churches, and two more building, one bank, a marine and fire insurance company about to go into operation, and a brick hotel, containing 90 apartments."

"There were nine arrivals and departures of steamboats in 1825, and 27 of brigs and schooners, containing 5,015 tons of merchandise and 9,400 barrels of sail, besides lumber, provisions, etc."

Galena, Peck reported, "has about 20 stores, a dozen groceries, and about 1,000 inhabitants."

Springfield, he said, "is in the midst of a most fertile region of country. It is a flourishing inland town and contains about 2,000 inhabitants."

One of the problems that faced the earliest settlers was that they were actually squatters. There was the possibility that when their land came up for sale, it might be bought by speculators.

Alfred Brunson, a circuit-riding Methodist minister, asked about this situation in Jo Daviess County in 1835.

He reported that "there was an understanding in the country, equivalent to a law of the land, that the settlers should sustain each other against the speculator, and no settler should bid on another's land."

"If a speculator should bid on a settler's farm, he was knocked down and dragged out of the office. And if the striker was prosecuted and fined, the settlers paid the expense by unanimous consent among themselves."

"But before a fine could be assessed, the case must come before a jury, which of course must be selected from among the settlers."

"It was understood that no jury would find a verdict of guilty against a settler, in such a case, because it was considered a case of self defense."

"These things being understood, no speculator dare bid on a settler's land. As no settler would bid on his neighbor, each man gets his land at Congress' price — $1.25 per acre."

Wages and prices were among the subjects that interested Patrick Shirreff, a Scottish farmer, as he reported in his book, "A Four Through North America," published in Edinburgh in 1835.

"Labor," he wrote, "is scarce and highly remunerated. A good farming help obtains $120, and an indifferent one $100 a year, with bed and board."

"A female help receives in private families a dollar a week."

"The hotel-keeper at Springfield pays two female helps $2 weekly in cash, and told me if it were not for a desire young girls have for fine clothes, he could not get one on any terms."

"Board, at the hotel, with bed, is $3 for short periods, and for long periods $2.50 per week."

"In the Springfield market, butter is worth eight cents per pound, and eggs six cents per dozen. Beef, in small quantities, is worth three, and pork two cents per pound, respectively, and much cheaper by the carcass."

"Wheat sells for thirty-seven and a-half, oats eighteen, and Indian corn ten cents per bushel. Good muscovado sugar costs ten, and coffee twenty cents per pound."

Railroad construction began in Illinois in the mid-1830s with the building of numerous short lines. Not until the completion of the Illinois Central in 1856 did the state have what could be called a railway system.

Long distance travel was principally by steamboat. The Rev. J. P. Thompson of New York, in 1851, described one of them: "A western steamboat is at first sight a novelty to one familiar only with eastern models."

"The boats on the western waters are very slightly built—mere shells of pine, shallow, long, narrow, flat-bottomed, open and flaring on all sides... There is no cabin either below the deck or upon it. The engines are placed immediately on the lower deck, two huge furnaces flaming upon you as you enter the boat, and giving you rather uncomfortable hints of a choice between fire and water in making your exit from the world."

"The cabin is upstairs and extends nearly the whole length of the deck, over which it is perched upon sundry posts that seem too frail for a summer's breeze; this is divided into a long narrow saloon, from stem to stern, and a row of staterooms on either hand.

"An apartment for ladies is situated off at one extremity, while the main saloon is used for meals, conversation, promenading, card-playing, and whatsoever one may list. The kitchen, pantry, bar, etc., are all contiguous to the saloon."

The most famous literary figure to visit early Illinois was Charles Dickens, who arrived in April 1842. With a group of young men from St. Louis he visited Belleville, had a picnic dinner on Looking Glass Prairie, and spent the night at the Mermaid Tavern in Lebanon.

Several days later he visited Cairo and was disappointed with what he saw because he had unwisely invested in the Cairo City and Canal Company.

In his "American Notes," he wrote that "at the junction of the two rivers, on ground so flat and low and marshy that at certain seasons of the year it is inundated to the house tops, lies a breeding place of fever, ague and death, waunted in England as a mine of Golden Hope, and speculated in, on the faith of monstrous representations, to many people's ruin."

"A dismal swamp, on which the half-built houses rot away; cleared here and there for the space of a few yards, and teeming then with rank unwholesome vegetation, in

Nilsson joins nostalgia rage

Name students to Who's Who

Two students at SIUE from the Quad-Cities will be included in the 1973-74 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Virgil C. Mugler Jr., 2303 Kilarney, Granite City, and Phillip B. Fraundorf, 2021 Rhodes St., Madison, were selected to be listed in the publication.

Membership in the national organization is based on participation and leadership in student activities. To be eligible for nomination, each student must be registered at the time of nomination and must expect to receive his or her degree between September 1973 and June 1975.

Harry Nilsson, the witty composer and singer of far-out and far-in music, finally succumbs to the nostalgia rage. "A Little Touch Of Schmilson in the Night" on RCA Records is guaranteed to bring a lump to the throat of every peached egg lover that ever rode in a rumble seat. Every song on the album was a hit back in the good old days. Nilsson, accompanied by an orchestra led by Gordon Jenkins, treats each of these classics with respect, resulting in a very pleasurable listening experience.

The album would make a great Christmas gift for mom or dad or shall we just say for the older generation.

Freddie King, the boogie 'n' blues guitar man from Texas has a new album out on the Shelter label. "Woman Across the River" will please blues freaks, even if it does remind one a little of Leon Russell. Part of this resemblance stems from the fact that Russell produced, played the piano and helped pen some of the songs on the LP. However, the unmistakable style and relaxed intensity of King's music refuses to be whitewashed by anyone.

King is at his best on side two, mixing blues and blues rock in his own unique blending of styles. His music makes you want to shut your eyes and relax as he tunes you in to such goodies as you haven't heard since his last album.

Angel Records is observing the 20th anniversary of its founding with a splendidly produced two-record LP that puts some of its musical highlights together under one tent.

The company has concentrated on the classical field during its 20 years and this collection, titled "The Angel Album," reflects that tradition.

The four sides (one of them mono for the early years) contain a wide variety of classical beauty ranging from the superb Claudio Arrau playing Chopin's "Black

Key" Etude to Maria Callas singing "Carmen."

The section covering great instrumentalists includes Daniel Barenboim, Pinchas Zukerman, Christopher Parkening and Yehudi Menuhin—playing selections from Bach to Beethoven. The side devoted to great conductors includes Otto Klemperer (the Coriolan Overture by Beethoven), Sir Thomas Beecham (Grieg), Andre Previn (conducting Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite), and Sir Adrian Boult conducting the haunting "Greensleeves" Fantasia.

This album has the advantage of any collection: A variety of music that refreshes the interest. And Angel has the quality, too.

Beethoven was the greatest pianist of his day but not one note has come down to us the way he played it. The same can be said of Chopin and the other composers who also were brilliant performers. Back there in the mists of time there was no recording industry. And so the sound, once performed, died.

Not so today. This is, for instance, the centennial of the birth of the romantic composer Sergei Rachmaninoff (1873-1943). To salute the occasion RCA is issuing a five-volume series of LPs that contain most, if not all, of the composer's recorded performances. The series is called, "The Complete Rachmaninoff."

And complete it is, ranging from his early, 78 rpm recordings of preludes and etudes to performances of his longer concertos with Eugene Ormandy and The Philadelphia Orchestra.

The sound quality, even on the early recordings, is excellent. But, more important, one gets to hear the Rachmaninoff creations the way the composer felt them. And this is quite different than the interpretations one would get from a pianist like Rubenstein or Gould. A composer imparts a peculiar rhythm to his own music, a personal imprint that stays with the listener. There is less technical brilliance (although Rachmaninoff was a brilliant pianist), more feeling. And this is very important to the romantic music of Rachmaninoff.

If you never have heard Rachmaninoff play Rachmaninoff, this series is your chance.

Recommend soil tests

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Madison County
Agricultural Advisor

Fertilizer is important to crop production, and some fertilizers will probably be in short supply or delivered late next spring. But before you get panicky and rush out to buy next year's fertilizer, think ahead and do some planning.

Planning helps you determine your needs. And good planning begins with a soil test. A soil test can help you decide whether you need fertilizer or not.

If the test shows that your soil doesn't need a particular nutrient, skip it for this year. But if a test shows that your soil is deficient in a particular fertilizer, it is important to get the material now or to line up the supplies you'll need.

Several Madison County farmers have asked if it is wise to apply now, or during the winter, fertilizer that is needed for next year's crops.

If your soils need phosphorus and potassium, apply the materials any time you can get them. They may be applied and plowed under, or they may be applied and left on the surface of fairly level land that is not subject to sheet erosion of the soil.

It's best to wait until next spring to apply nitrogen. But if you apply nitrogen this fall, apply only the ammonia form and only after the soil temperature drops to 50 degrees F. at the four-inch depth.

The fuel crisis and transportation shortage relates to the fertilizer shortage.

Nitrogen fertilizer production depends on ammonia, and ammonia production depends on natural gas.

The energy crisis increases the possibility that natural gas will be diverted from fertilizer plants to industry for energy purposes and to homes for heating purposes. This would affect the amount of ammonia available for fertilizer next spring.

The energy crisis has already affected dry-nitrogen fertilizer production, and dry nitrogen supplies will likely be short next spring.

Transportation problems in this country and in Canada are holding up movement of fertilizer, particularly potash.

Phosphorus will likely be in short supply next spring, because attractive overseas markets have increased exports of phosphorus fertilizers during recent months.

SHOW ME, JESUS! The rock musical presented during the weekend in the Granite City High School-South auditorium attracted more than 1,400 persons. Teenagers from many area churches participated in the production, sponsored by the First Assembly of God Church. In addition to elaborate sound and lighting

BETTER THINGS? "Al," played by Colin Owens on left, representing the forces of evil at work in the world, tries to convince "Joey," Pat Martin, second from left, that there are better things in life than following Jesus as a Christian. Others in the cast, standing to the left of Martin, are Jerry Tracy, Chuck Walton, partially hidden, Larry Smallie, kneeling, and Barb Schmitz, with mike on right. The musical was presented by local teenagers under the sponsorship of the First Assembly of God Church. (Press-Record Photo)

The first option for $278 covers only round trip airfare, and is designed for the traveler who wants to see Europe on his own. The second option for $288 includes round trip flight and lodging for one night only in Malaga on the southern coast of Spain.

Option number three for $474 includes round trip transportation to Malaga, lodging in Malaga for the entire trip and two and a half days of short tours.

Book available on U.S. government

Congressman Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) has announced the availability through his office of the 1973 edition of "Our American Government: What Is It? How Does It Function?"

The booklet answers in clear, easy-to-follow terms many of the questions the ordinary citizen has concerning the functions of the federal government. In addition there is a listing of state delegations and a current state-by-state census.

"With the events now taking place in our government, it is necessary that every citizen have quick access to information such as that contained in this publication," Cong. Price stated.

"I am therefore taking this opportunity to offer copies of this booklet to all interested persons," he said.

Anyone wishing to obtain a copy of the booklet may do so by writing to: Melvin Price; 2468 Rayburn Building, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Thoughts of Dr. Lee in his professional, citizen and public service roles

As this was being written this week, Dr. John E. Lee, Jr. lay critically ill after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage at his home. Word that he had been stricken came as an extra shock because of his relative youth and because of the vigor with which he has always dispatched his many duties.

We have recollections of "Doc" Lee as a municipal government leader, busily conferring with the McKinley Bridge staff on its latest repair project, reviewing budget requirements with department heads, or conferring with City Council members on ways to expedite construction of traffic grade separation facilities at the Broadway railroad crossing.

There are recollections of Mayor Lee, the political leader, following in the footsteps of his late father, the original Dr. Lee. Between the two they have governed century-old Venice for 48 of its 100 years, both also helping to influence the election outcome for a number of other local, county, regional and state offices.

There are thoughts of Dr. Lee, the dentist, continuing for several decades to serve a large number of patients; Dr. Lee, the businessman, guiding fiscal growth and the construction of new facilities for the First National Bank in Madison; and Dr. Lee as an athlete, conversationalist, parishioner and participant in Venice and Quad-City community service tasks.

Thoughts go back also to Dr. Lee, citizen and patriot. Helping shape the local role in community college planning, he was steadfast in supporting "whatever is best for the entire Quad-Cities."

Discussing whether to support a state candidate of his own party but with whom he had differed, or to back the opposing party's candidate who seemed to be promising more for this region, his reaction favored party unity rather than temporary expediency. "It's a matter of being loyal to the people—those who believed in you when you told them what you stood for," he told us.

Such recollections were numerous—and hearts were filled with concern—throughout the Quad-Cities and a wide surrounding area early this week.

Mixed feelings in Quad-Cities about state decision, but all respect the Belleville Area College as a sound, well-administered education district

Feelings are mixed in the Quad-Cities regarding the Illinois Community College Board's decision Nov. 16 to tentatively assign the Granite City, Madison, Venice and Collinsville school districts to Belleville Area College effective June 30, 1974.

Many have felt that this community has shown great foresight, and dedication to the cause of vocational, technical and adult education.

Examples are the former Smith-Hughes occupational courses in operation for more than a generation at Granite City High School, the Lincoln-Venice Technical Center in Venice, Granite City schools' diverse regular and special industrial training courses, and assorted instruction with precisely articulated secondary-university coordination and credits.

Quad-Cities also showed their interest in higher education by joining with other Southwestern Illinoisans in contributing hundreds of thousands of dollars to purchase property which later became the 2,600-acre campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

This community still was ready to shoulder its share of the load and provide any additional course of offerings that were needed and desired.

But the state took two positions on which it never yielded ground: Direct participation in the junior college district is mandatory no matter how effectively a community has endeavored to meet such needs in other ways. And creation of an entirely new college district here was not to be allowed even to go to a public vote.

The Illinois Community College Board and its staff and advisory committee concluded that special state funding—which they want to avoid—would be necessary in view of the local population, tax base and enrollment potential. This state opinion seemed questionable to many Quad-Cities because an innovative Quad-City college plan involving SIUE seemed likely to make possible an outstanding curriculum at minimal cost. But the ICCB had the power to decide, and exercised that power.

Most local residents who had taken part in discussions with the state were convinced that this community was destined to be assigned to the Lewis and Clark Community College at Godfrey, despite a number of factors suggesting that BAC was a better choice.

Fortunately, local interest and awareness were so intense that a large and well-informed public hearing audience was able to convince state authorities. Citizens were rewarded for their time and effort by the decision favoring annexation of the Quad-Cities to the existing, effectively-administered Belleville district.

This development is important not only in terms of avoidance of an excessive tax burden, but also because it will result in access to many college offerings here and at the Illinois campus. And it assures continuation of most of the adult classes provided until now by local public school systems.

Bible a guide for return to higher ethical values

Atlanta Constitution—"A house divided against itself must fall," said Abraham Lincoln in another time of national travail. That the Bible is quoting the Gospel directly goes largely unnoticed.

Salesmen for generations have brought expensive gold-stamped Bibles to the doorsteps of the deceased, collecting exorbitant prices from bereaved widows for books they believe to have been ordered by their late husbands.

And the conservationists have found that the Bible spoke knowingly of the transgressions of man: "I brought you into a plentiful country to eat the fruit and the goodness thereof; but when you entered, ye defiled my land and made of your heritage an abomination."

The point is that the Bible continues to be a secular, political and ethical guide unlike any other in history. It has been an indispensable part of the educated man for centuries.

It has permeated the speech and thought patterns of the English-speaking world until it is used by great leaders and hucksters alike, both to good effect.

Millions of Americans grew up in hardcover Bibles which contained only one book—the Bible. Millions more a Sabbath morning spent many a Sabbath morning in competition to see which could turn most quickly to particular Bible verses.

The literary power of the Psalms has shaped and molded the thought processes of the English-speaking world for hundreds of years. It is possible to imagine a world from which the Bible's ethical values were removed.

Johns Gutenberg, the inventor of printing in Europe, devoted much of his life to putting the Bible into a portable form. Along with other great books of his time, he understood from the first that this would be the most fantastic

READER URGES ACCESS TO SAFE ABORTIONS

To the Editor:
I am writing in response to all the furor caused by the announcement of a new outpatient surgical center. What is all the fuss about? No one is forced to have an abortion. If one doesn't believe in it, not patronize it. But leave the option there for those of us who want it.

Why should anyone have a say in the decision which may affect the next 20 years of my life? It's easy to say, "Just don't get pregnant." But what about the women who can't use the pill, or those who have safely carried their preverbal child through the delivery room door, or the woman whose other precautions failed her? The battered child is often the result of an unwanted pregnancy.

As for adoption, which woman is likely to have the most public disapproval? The mother who carries her child for nine months and then gives it up, or the woman who has an abortion quietly before anyone knows she's pregnant? If you decide you don't want any more children at all, where do you go? Not to our own hospital, which forbids permanent sterilization, whether you have to have a Caesarian, whether you should not get pregnant for medical reasons, or any other reason.

What about the cases of rape, incest or badly deformed fetuses? Is it only a sin to have an abortion when the pregnancy is normal, or does one fetus deserve more consideration than another?

The rich will always be able to obtain abortions, and we can always send our women to the States. But is this what we want?

I like kids. I have four of them. But why should anyone have to have a child if they don't want one?

I wonder what all the people would say if their 13-year-old turned up pregnant, by whatever means? So you punish her by making a child have a baby away from friends and family? Make her get married at 17? Or do you hope there is someone who will help her safely?

GRANITE CITY AN RETALIATE FOR OIL: END FOOD SHIPMENTS

To the Editor:
I heard the President's address the other evening regarding the energy problems the country faces and was impressed by the severity of the situation.

You can imagine how distressed I was, knowing that they have the heat turned down to a chilly level in the Oval Office, when I learned that the large petroleum companies are shipping three times as much oil out of the country this year as they were last year when there was no crisis.

This seems quite unfair to the President and to the rest of the nation. It seems to me that their attitude should be described as one of letting the people do the sacrificing while they ship their oil to whomever has the most money without any other consideration. Furthermore, I have been reliably informed that massive quantities of our farm produce are reaching the same Arabian countries that have shut off our oil.

It may be too simple, but my simple idea of how to view the situation would suggest that we shut off all food to those countries which have shut us off from their oil—and we shut off our food to any countries that transship our food to those countries withholding their oil.

Many Americans have lost faith in many of our federal institutions, especially when they are used by the Committee to Re-elect the President and by the Watergate gang.

With sorrow in my heart, I believe we've had it under the Nixon administration. I feel it's time for the American people to begin to pray for the welfare of our country before it's too late.

GOVERNMENT CLOSE TO HOME IS BETTER

To the Editor:
My objection to regionalism is that it tends, in the long run, to concentrate power at the top by wearing away power at the local level.

Early this month it was said on a Channel Four editorial that the drive for regionalism was sponsored by federal interest.

"One of the clearest television commercials shows a small boy helping his mother sort dirty laundry. Here's one for the Big bag," he tells his mother showing her a pair of his mud-caked dungarees. Mom agrees, and another piece of soiled laundry goes into the big bag.

You do have such a bag around your house? No, I'm not selling soap. But as Thanksgiving approaches, I am selling the idea of giant-size garbage bags to hold the things we're grateful for.

Too many of us slouch around with oversize laundry bags, collecting gripes and complaints.

We have a way of storing in memory bags all the ways other people have hurt us. Or ignored us. Or the hard knocks life has handed us. Our bags are so full that we have to drag it around, huffing and puffing. We jump at every chance to remind our friends what a martyr we are.

Then we use a tiny sack—like Planters' Peanuts come in—to collect the good things that come our way. So wonder we grow bitter and resentful when we measure our gripes in pounds and our blessings in ounces.

A laundry bag or a peanut bag—which will it be this Thanksgiving?

What makes the difference is attitude, for even the word "gratitude" is composed mainly of the word "attitude."

And what I'm saying is far more than a play on words.

TIME TO PRAY FOR AMERICA'S FUTURE

To the Editor:

Watergate is nothing more than a shameful scandal carried out at the expense of the American people for the benefit of a few people who have disgraced themselves and our two-party system. It is hard to understand why people of high learning would stoop so low and speak out with forked tongues about the welfare of America is at stake and the value of the American dollar is so low.

"People can say with honesty in their hearts that people in a President's Cabinet with bagging devices and highly trained burglars are not good for the American people. This should be brought to an end for the good of the American people. As a citizen, and one who loves my country, as do millions of other American people, I feel deeply hurt about the Watergate affair and its effect on our country and the American people.

When you have a government that fails to function and carry out legal duties in the best interests of the people, then we must suffer from it.

Many Americans have lost faith in many of our federal institutions, especially when they are used by the Committee to Re-elect the President and by the Watergate gang.

With sorrow in my heart, I believe we've had it under the Nixon administration. I feel it's time for the American people to begin to pray for the welfare of our country before it's too late.

Thanksgiving time of trial and triumph

Thanksgiving Day proclamation by President Richard M. Nixon:

On the first Thanksgiving man affirmed his determination to live in God's grace and to act in God's will on the shores of a new land of promise. In this Thanksgiving season, we reaffirm that determination.

Time has not dimmed, nor circumstance diminished, the need for God's hand in all that America may justly endeavor. In times of trial and of triumph, that single truth reasserts itself, and a people who have never bowed before men go gladly to their knees in submission to divine power, and in thanks for divine sustenance.

On this Thanksgiving Day we mark the 10th anniversary of the tragic death of President John F. Kennedy.

As we give thanks for the bounty and goodness of our land, therefore, let us also pause to reflect on President Kennedy's contribution to the life of this nation we love so dearly.

Those who celebrated the first Thanksgiving had endured hardship and loss, but they kept alive their hope and their faith. Through our history, each generation has endured hardship and loss, but our faith and trust in God's providence has remained undiminished.

At this first Thanksgiving in 12 years, in which the United States will have been at peace, we see that God's grace also remains undiminished. For this we give thanks.

Proclaim Thursday, Nov. 22, 1973, as a day of national thanksgiving and, concurrently, a day of prayer for the memory of John F. Kennedy.

Let all Americans unite on this day, giving thanks for the manifold blessings vouchsafed our people, and inviting all of those less fortunate than ourselves to share in those blessings in God's name, for his sake and for our own.

What about the city administration? Bob Kelly has been condemned and razed 32 condemned buildings. Four more are to be torn down in the immediate future. The city is serious about a new day and a new look for Granite City.

The City Council is making good preparations to provide some off-street parking downtown. The repair and clean up street signs, to keep the streets cleaner, to develop community pride that will make people want to come downtown.

When we get that started, nothing will stop it from becoming an excellent place to set up a business, serve the community and make money.

Everyone we talk to seems to indicate it should be done. Some are reluctant to start. It is going to take the efforts of more merchants to bring about this revitalization.

A new Downtown Revitalization Committee has been appointed and will be functioning within a matter of days, with a vigorous drive to get downtown cleaned up, painted up, fixed up.

It is going to take the help and dedication of everyone in the downtown—community bankers, lawyers, doctors, merchants, city administration and organizations.

When and if gasoline reaches 75 cents per gallon, is rationed, or both, won't it be nice to have a downtown area where people can get what they want without driving around to out-of-town areas to find it?

New books on food shopping

A new series of five publications on shopping for families with limited budgets is available from the University of Illinois.

This is the second in a series of booklets based on consumer problems of the "Johnson family," a father, mother and their five children.

Karen Schmittgrund, Extension family economics specialist, co-authored the booklets with Jeanne L. Hafstrom, assistant professor of family economics, and Marilyn M. Dunsing, professor of family economics.

The booklets, written to read like a story, discuss the role that food plays in the family budget, the importance of food advertisements, how to do comparison shopping, and how to use unit pricing to make the best use of the shopping dollar. Mrs. Schmittgrund explains. Copies of this second series are available by writing to Mrs. Schmittgrund, 338 Beaver Hall, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill. 61801.

Cloverview plants for spring

Mrs. Robert McCauley was hostess to the members of Cloverview Garden Club at a 12:30 dessert luncheon at Temple's Smorgasbord.

The business session was conducted by president, Mrs. William Bradley, and Mrs. B. C. O'Neill read the club collect. Reports of officers were heard and correspondence was read from the state president, Mrs. E. J. Tamillo, expressing her appreciation for a tea given in her honor during her visit in Granite City.

Announcement was made of a newly formed club in Edwardsville, to be known as "Holiday Shores Garden Club," bringing the membership to 14 clubs in District V, Garden Club of Illinois, Inc.

Awards ribbons won by two members at the recent Presidents Council Day luncheon were displayed.

Mrs. Bradley won a blue ribbon for her entry in the artistic division, entitled "Autumn Festival," and Mrs. John Jenkins won an appreciation rosette ribbon in the "Tables on Parade" category. Her table depicted an "After the Football Game" buffet.

The club voted to send Christmas gifts to the "forgotten patients" at several institutions, including Alton State Hospital, Murray Children's Center and shelter care and nursing homes.

Mrs. Fred Orr, civic project chairman, reviewed a discussion with Gilbert Wamsley, principal of Granite City High School North about placing evergreens at the school entrance. Plans were made to plant bulbs at the Colonial Haven Nursing Home on Stearns Avenue.

Revivaltime Choir here Sunday

The Revivaltime Choir, a widely known recording and radio singing group, will present a special musical program at 10 a.m. Sunday at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue, the Rev. M. A. Groff, pastor, said today.

"Revivaltime" in the international radio broadcast of the Assemblies of God. Currently released over more than 600 U. S. and foreign stations, the program originates each week from Springfield, Mo., the local minister explained. The choir is featured in several numbers on each broadcast.

Members of the 40-voice mixed choir are selected from the student body of Central Bible College, a ministerial training school of the denomination.

Those attending this Sunday's program this personal appearance of the "Revivaltime" choir will hear gospel music at its finest—new songs and old favorites—the Rev. Groff said. In addition, the choir will present a "Sermon in Song"—a series of sacred selections interspersed with short testimonies from choir members.

The Rev. Cyril McLellan has directed the radio choir since 1952 and serves as a music instructor at Central Bible College in Springfield. Under his guidance the choir has recorded 14 long-play albums. Eight books of the director's special arrangements also have been published.

Mrs. Henry George served as hostess. The club collect was given by Mrs. David Friedman and the pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. Alfred Pape.

Plans were finalized for a Christmas party on Dec. 6 at Sunne Hills Country Club. The business session was conducted by Mrs. Marvin Eddington, president.

Mrs. E. F. Reiske was the accompanist for group singing.

Jayceettes plan busy season

A series of special activities during the holiday season was planned by the Granite City Jayceettes at a meeting last week in the home of Mrs. Emalee Meador.

Mrs. Linda Weible was in charge of the business session and reviewed details of several traditions events sponsored each Christmas by the women's organization.

Preparation of a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family will be the initial endeavor of the club, to be completed under the supervision of Mrs. Meador.

Mrs. Cheryl Gann was appointed to arrange a Yule party for Jaycee members and guests, and Mrs. Marlene Ross was named chairman of a Santa Claus event for children of club members.

The responsibility for assembling a layette to be presented the first infant born in 1974 at St. Elizabeth Hospital was given to Mrs. Wanda Hill. She will be assisted by Mrs. Ginger Hahnke, a new member to the group, Mrs. Weible announced.

80¢ rate Venice school vote Dec. 7

Venice voters will be asked to approve an 80¢ increase in the Venice School District's maximum tax rate for educational purposes, raising the current $2.05 rate to $2.85, at a special election Friday, Dec. 7.

Changes in state rules on adoption

Persons wishing to adopt a child and parents who want to place their child for adoption should be aware of changes made in the Illinois Adoption Act by the 1973 legislature in SB 346, Lynda Harriman, University of Illinois family life specialist, has advised the Press-Record.

The law now defines as "unfit to adopt a child" persons who fail to demonstrate a reasonable degree of interest, concern or responsibility for the welfare of a child during the first 30 days after its birth. Also defined as "unfit" are those who fail to make reasonable efforts to correct the conditions which were the basis for removing the child from his parents or to make reasonable progress toward returning the child to his parents within 24 months after an adjudication of neglect under the Juvenile Court Act.

The definition of "parent" has been changed to "the father or mother of a legitimate or illegitimate child."

Prior to this change, the father of an illegitimate child was not defined as being a "parent."

Another change was to delete the paragraph in the Adoption Act stating that the consent of the father of an illegitimate child was not required for that child to be placed for adoption. A paragraph has been added concerning notifying the putative or alleged father of the mother's intention to place the child for adoption and explaining the putative father's rights.

The putative father may file a declaration of paternity and keep his parental rights, or he may file a disclaimer of paternity which will then end all legal rights with respect to the child.

The revised statute also contains revised forms of consent and surrender to adoption, Mrs. Harriman adds.

The surrender of a child already born is irrevocable; the surrender of an unborn child may be revoked under certain conditions within 24 hours after the birth of the child.

No consent or surrender shall be taken within the 72-hour period immediately following the birth of the child.

The revised statute states, "The best interests and welfare of the person to be adopted shall be of paramount consideration in the construction and interpretation of this Act."

Other changes also were made, Mrs. Harriman says, adding, "If you have any questions about the changes or their interpretation, contact your lawyer or your nearest lawyer referral service."

STEAL STEREO UNIT

A stereo and speakers, worth a total of $280, were stolen from the home of Dale Williams, 324 Wilson Park Lane, during the weekend. Entry was gained by forcing open a locked kitchen window.

Gunshot misses children, Venice man is charged

A Venice man has been charged with aggravated battery after a shotgun blast shattered a kitchen window at the mobile home of Thomas Gruner, 92 Kaseberg Park, Pontoon Beach, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Pellets and flying glass went just over the heads of two children in the mobile home, one of which was sitting in a high chair when the blast occurred, the occupants reported.

Groner and his wife were in the living room at the time, they said. Pontoon Beach police, using an unmarked police car, followed an auto from the scene to the 2600 block of Madison Avenue where Granite City police assisted in stopping the car.

The driver, Clyde Martin Jr., 31, of 514 Third St., Venice, was arrested. Officers said a 20 gauge shotgun was in the trunk of the car and that three shotgun shells were found in the man's pocket.

SMOKE IN HOUSE

Granite City firemen were called to 2231 E. 25th St., during the weekend where a pot of food had been left unattended over an open flame on the stove. Firemen turned off the flame and used fans to remove the smoke from the house. The residents were not at home when the incident occurred.

TAPE PLAYER THEFT

Lou Rodgers, 2300 Cardinal Ave., reported this week that several men or youths took a tape player and a tape from his auto. They entered the car by reaching through a vent window with a broken latch.

May merge 7 townships

A proposal to merge seven Madison County townships into three new townships was finalized by the Madison County Board's legislative committee Thursday night and will be presented to the full County Board for consideration at its next meeting Nov. 28.

The proposal calls for merging Omphgent, Olive and New Douglas townships into one new township, combining Leaf and Alhambra townships into another and creating a third through the merger of St. Jacob and Marine townships.

If the County Board approves, public hearings will have to be held and a public vote will be required, probably during the general election in November, 1974.

A majority of all of the voters of each proposed new township would be required for merger. If any proposed township should defeat the merger proposal, the townships within that area would remain as they are until new legislation is passed by the state.

The attempt to form the three larger townships from the seven smaller ones was initiated in an attempt to comply with the new state constitution. The state now requires all townships to have a minimum tax base of $6,000,000.

Combining Leaf and Alhambra townships would create one township just over the $6 million limit. Merging St. Jacob and Marine townships would create a district with an assessed valuation of about $8 million and the proposed Omphgent, Olive and New Douglas township would be the largest new unit with a valuation of almost $11 million.

Names for the new townships will have to be determined before the vote is taken 12 months from now.

Scuba classes to start

The Tri-City Area YMCA again is offering Scuba instruction under certified instructors. The East Side Diver Supply Co., at 1840 Delmar Ave. will provide the Professional Association of Diving Instructors and Midwest Divers Council, certified instructors, and equipment needed for the training of divers.

Class will meet for the first time today at 7 p.m. at the YMCA, 878-7200, or East Side Diver Supply Co., 877-6292. Mask, fins and snorkels, swim suit, towel, and note book should be brought to the first meeting.

Steel industry leader says some business critics play 'fast and loose' with data

The chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute has just accused critics of business of "playing fast and loose" with statistics crucial to the steel industry and the business community.

Speaking to an AISI regional meeting, Stewart S. Cort, chairman of the Institute and of Bethlehem Steel Corp., described five areas of what he called "infuriating distortions of the numbers."

As "exhibit A," he cited "numbers that are used deliberately to distort and misrepresent industry profits to promote hostile views. And one of the sleight techniques is to talk about percentage gains in earnings without mentioning the base."

Cort said that Senator Proxmire, in opposing a recent steel price increase, "made hay out of the assertion that the first-half earnings of the nine largest steel companies had risen 62 per cent."

"But compared to what? The senator didn't bother to say, 'Now the fact is that the comparison was with a period of badly depressed industry profits.'"

As for the press, the steel executive said he doesn't think the news media intentionally slants financial news, but added, "Sometimes they certainly don't contribute to public understanding."

He mentioned a headline which said that a steel company's third quarter profit rose 148 per cent, "when the comparison was with a poor year-a quarter and the third-quarter profits were actually down from the first two quarters."

"But it isn't only the earnings of the steel industry that are being misrepresented, not by a long shot. The whole business community suffers," he said. Newspaper headlines listing record corporate profits do not take into account such things as inflation and inventory reduction, Cort asserted.

Leigh Heller presented state physical ed award

Miss Leigh Heller, physical education teacher at Parkview Elementary School, was the recipient of the Illinois Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation Service Award.

This recognition was bestowed during the 1973 state convention which was held in Chicago and attended by 3,000 physical educators from throughout the state.

The Illinois Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation Service Award recognizes individuals who have given outstanding service at both the district and state levels.

Miss Heller was president of her local Southwestern District of IAHPER, and served the state in the capacities of secretary and also vice-president of physical education.

Miss Heller graduated from Western Illinois University in 1955 and received her Master of Arts degree from the University of Wyoming in 1960.

She came to Granite City in 1961 and taught at Frohardt school before transferring to Parkview where she presently is teaching.

MISS LEIGH HELLER

of Wyoming in 1960.

Season tickets are being sold by band members for the series of four concerts. Single admissions may be purchased at the door for the individual concerts.

President Delton Groothuis announced that the next meeting will be held Dec. 11. Refreshments were served by Mesdames Rose Marie Bauer, Pat Cicio, Rosemary Davis, and Dorothy Schanuel.

Band activities at GCHS-N

The Granite City High School North Band Parents Association received reports from various committees and considered by-laws for the new association at a meeting last week.

Mrs. Rose Marie Bauer was named chairman of the special events committee. Activities for next month were discussed. Among them will be the first concert to be held on Dec. 3 in the GCHS-S Auditorium.

He noted that Morgan Guaranty Bank has reported that the current profit share of the gross national product was actually 43 per cent below the average level of the 1960s.

"They're right," he said. "Profits aren't what they seem to be. You have to look behind the numbers."

The Institute chairman moved on to "exhibit B," air and water pollution control as "another case where our critics delight in playing fast and loose with numbers."

He said that although the steel industry is now removing 94 per cent of its water pollutants and 86 per cent of its air pollutants, it is difficult to find a single statement outside the industry "that gives us due credit for the clean-up job we're already doing."

He told his audience that the "more extreme environmentalists" are "experts at twisting the facts and we'd be well advised to call them on it every chance we get."

"Exhibit C," said Cort, is "an example of somebody playing fast and loose with both facts and figures with the express purpose of causing trouble for the steel industry."

Professor Walter Adams of Michigan State testified before Congress last spring that the best way to hold down domestic steel prices and curb inflation was to permit unlimited imports of lower-priced foreign steel.

"If Professor Adams had done his homework," he commented, "he would have been reading press reports that both Japanese and European mills were even then asking as much as $10 to a ton over domestic prices."

"And today we're hearing about foreign steel quotations at a premium of more than $100 a ton over domestic prices."

"Exhibit D" in Cort's list was misinterpretation of the portion of capital investment spending required for pollution control facilities.

"It's obvious that a lot of people who have been trying to read the economy don't realize that we're involved in a brand new ball game."

He explained that because pollution control facilities are non-productive, investment dollars today don't buy the same amount of new production capacity or the same number of new job opportunities as before.

An average of 10 to 12 per cent of the steel industry's capital expenditures is now going into pollution control facilities, he said.

"Admittedly, steelmaking has an impact on the environment," said Cort.

"What we're trying to do is minimize that impact without creating other problems. This means separating the goals that are critically important from those that are merely cosmetic."

For his last "exhibit," the AISI chairman asked his audience to "look behind the numbers" on their paychecks and the paychecks of all steel industry employees.

"It's clear that steel industry employees benefit from their benefits a lot more than most of us realize," he said, citing a survey that showed payroll costs for steel industry employees to be 35 per cent above their cash pay.

He closed by saying, "Everyone in the steel industry has an obligation to be scrupulously accurate and even-handed in releasing and explaining statistical data. The challenge before us is to make sure that other people toe the line."

You pay for a full load. Why not wash one?

and other thoughts on stretching your energy dollar.

Every time you use your washing machine, you're paying for enough electricity and hot water to wash a full load, no matter how few clothes you put in the machine.

When your machine goes through its cycle just to wash a pair of jeans and a few socks, you've wasted money, water, and electricity.

And when you finish off that skimpy load in your clothes dryer, there's more money and energy wasted.

Skimpy loads waste energy—one of the vital resources we're all trying to conserve these days. With a little planning, you can wash and dry only when you have a full load. And fewer loads add up to a tidy savings on your fuel and water bills during a year.

At Illinois Power Company, providing energy is our business. But using energy wisely is everybody's business. We want to help our customers get the most from every dollar they spend on electricity and gas. For advice on the wise use of any appliance, call our Home Economist.

THANKSGIVING DECORATION. This paper warrior and maid can be created from construction paper and used as "Turkey Day" table decorations.

CHILD'S PLAY

Paper Indians can be created

Much of the menu that is a traditional part of Thanksgiving feasting dates back to the earliest beginnings of this favorite national holiday.

The native Americans gave the white man most important gifts when they introduced so many new foods. It was not surprising that the New World Pilgrims celebrated their first Thanksgiving by eating turkey, a fowl previously unknown to Europeans.

The Indians added a lot of other foods now taken for granted in modern eating. Imagine not knowing about corn, sweet potatoes, beans, squash, tomatoes or green peppers. The white man originally knew nothing of peanuts, maple sugar, chocolate or chewing gum. The introduction of tobacco perhaps had mixed blessings by today's standards, but Indians deserve full credit for making such treats available as clam-bakes, corn roasts and popcorn.

Since Thanksgiving is such a special holiday, it's fun to decorate the house and table and provide an appropriate theme for the day's big meal. The technique of cut-and-paste makes it easy for you to have paper Indians for just such a purpose.

The accompanying illustration suggests the type of warrior and maid you can create.

Start with two sheets of 9-by-12-inch construction paper folded lengthwise to 4 and a half by 12 inches each. Round one end for the head and draw features and hair with a dark felt pen or crayon.

On one figure cut out a thin center strip for pants. Leave the bottom of the other which will become a skirt. Then fringe both so they will look like buckskins.

Then, from another sheet of paper, nine inches square, cut diagonally from two triangles. When fringed, folded and pasted into place, will become blankets. Cut paper moccasins for feet. A contrasting colored strip, four by half an inch, should be folded and glued on to become headbands. One or more fringed feathers should be stuck underneath.

With some imagination, you can add other suitable decorations such as Indian signs on the borders of the clothes, beads on the moccasins and other crayed ornaments. You can also experiment with larger and smaller pieces of paper to make figures of different sizes. Little ones can be used for name cards and one extra large Indian can stand as a fine table centerpiece.

Navy Seaman Apprentice David E. Robinson, son of Mrs. Joanne B. Robinson of 2024 13th St., participated in a 100-hour television on board the attack aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy to raise money for the annual Combined Federal Campaign. He and his shipmates contributed more than $5,300 during the television at sea. A former student of Granite City High School, he joined the Navy in April 1972.

Thawing a holiday turkey takes time

The first Thanksgiving turkeys came fresh from the woods. Most Thanksgiving turkeys today are frozen.

Proper thawing will help keep one's 1973 turkey from causing food poisoning and help retain its quality, Geraldine Acker, University of Illinois Extension foods specialist, reports.

She says it's generally best to thaw the whole turkey in the original plastic wrapper in the refrigerator before cooking.

The only exception to this rule is for commercially frozen stuffed poultry, which must be cooked as soon as it is taken from the freezer.

Turkeys weighing four to 12 pounds will take one to two days to thaw in the refrigerator, Miss Acker explains. Turkeys weighing 12 to 20 pounds will take from two to three days; heavier turkeys will take three to four days.

A half turkey, quarter turkey, or half breast will take one to two days to thaw. Boneless turkey roasts should thaw within 12 to 18 hours.

"Faster results can be accomplished by partially thawing the turkey in your refrigerator and then placing it—still in the original wrapper—in cold water until it's completely thawed," Miss Acker adds. "Change the cold water often—and don't thaw in warm water."

Cold-water thawing usually takes 4 to 6 hours for 4 to 12 pound turkeys, 6 to 8 hours for 12 to 20 pound turkeys, 8 to 12 hours for those over 20 pounds.

"Be sure to cook your turkey promptly after thawing," stresses the food specialist. "Don't hold it longer than 24 hours after thawing. The turkey is thawed enough to cook when it becomes pliable and the giblets can be removed from the cavity."

Traditional Thanksgiving services will be held at all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Thursday.

Testimonies of gratitude are featured at the public services which have been held annually for more than 70 years. No collection is taken at the services.

The Thanksgiving Proclamation of the President of the United States will be read at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave., where services will begin at 10:45 a.m.

A solo, "Song of Thanksgiving," by John Randall Dunn, will be sung by the soloist, Miss Debbie Hightower, accompanied by Mrs. Carmen Smallwood.

One of the three hymns of gratitude to be sung by the congregation at the service will include the verse: "Our tribute, thanksgiving, with glad hearts we bring."

Special program at Frohardt

"Today's News Shapes Tomorrow" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Angie Hutton and Mrs. Connie Steffen, members of Emerson Grade School's teaching staff, who spoke Tuesday evening at a meeting of Frohardt Parent-Teacher Association.

The Emerson faculty members reviewed the use of newspapers as a teaching aid, a program utilized throughout their specific school building which has gained nationwide attention.

Mrs. Janet Wilson, Frohardt PTA president, said that Alfred J. Wilson, Emerson principal, and his teachers have been involved in workshops in Illinois and other states showing educators how the "newspaper in the classroom" teaching method can be successfully implemented.

The guest faculty members presented a demonstration of practical techniques of using the Press-Record and other newspapers in the innovative teaching program.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria after the business meeting Tuesday night, with fifth grade room mothers in charge.

Attending a planning session last week at the home of Mrs. Wilson were PTA board members Mesdames Sue Moss, Judy Russell, Arlene Laub, LaVerne Hammond, Joyce Toussaint, Florence Petrovich and Earlene Hayes.

SUFFRAGETTE MEET On Nov. 24, 1882, a conference of women met in Cleveland to organize the American Women Suffrage Association.
